

ESG

at EnerCorp

ENERcorp™

At EnerCorp, ESG has been a part of our operations from the very beginning — long before it became a hot topic in the industry. From our technology to our processes to our people, ESG initiatives inform our day-to-day operations and are woven into every part of our business.

Environmental initiatives

Our goal is to create more energy with less energy.

Methane reduction

The Sahara Advanced Cyclone requires less blowdowns as our technology is more efficient. This reduces the amount of methane emissions by 81%.

CO2 reduction

EnerCorp's autonomous eFlowback technology reduces the amount of truck traffic to and from the site, minimizing the amount of CO2 emissions for each flowback job.

Spill reduction

We can minimize any hazardous spills by carefully monitoring the flowback operation through our eFlowback highly automated solution, which uses several layers of safety features.

Social initiatives

We want our people to thrive both in and outside of the workplace.

Charitable support

We support social initiatives that are dear to our people and our customers, including Veteran/Military Service, Child Advocacy, and Physical & Mental Health Support and Services charities.

Employee support

To help our employees succeed in all areas of their lives, we offer flexible working conditions where available as well as leadership training to help employees be their best selves.

Team support

Wherever possible, EnerCorp promotes people from within because we believe in developing our team and giving them the tools and resources they need to reach their career goals.

Governance initiatives

We are a privately held company that is governed like a public company.

Diversity of leadership

Our company's strength comes from the diversity of our leadership team and the varying backgrounds and perspectives we bring to the table.

Third-party audit

We conduct a third-party audit with Deloitte on a regular basis to ensure our business remains financially sound and technologically secure.

Independent board members

Our board members guide our performance and strategic direction with their experience in financial and operational roles.

A LETTER FROM OUR CEO

We really are more than an energy services company.

We're a company that celebrates the differences among our team knowing that's what makes us collectively strong.

We're a company that believes in developing our people so that they're successful at work and winning at home.

We're a company that knows we can't change the world, but we can change our community.

We're a team that operates our business with performance metrics and fiscal accountability that ensures resilience and strong future growth for our team and shareholders.

We're a company that genuinely cares about our environment, not because it's trendy or from some sense of obligation, but because caring for and contributing to a greener earth benefits all of society now and in the future.

...Leading our segment, we will continue to show that performance, people, profits, and purpose can go hand in hand to create sustainable value for our customers, shareholders, and team members.

James E. Pung
Chief Executive Officer
ENERcorp™

Scan the QR code to visit EnerCorp's ESG webpage

